SUSTAINABILITY

Expeditors is committed to environmental stewardship. We believe in the pursuit of environmental quality and taking care of the environments in which we operate. Our goal is to make a positive difference through our own operational footprint and our partnerships with customers and service providers.

We are dedicated to the pursuit of environmental quality in our customers' supply chains by helping them measure and reduce the environmental impact of their shipping activities. As a non-asset organization, Expeditors prides itself in our ability to focus first on solutions over filling assets. We analyze many of our customers' supply chains and recommend ways to reduce costs and carbon emissions through options such as modal shifts, reducing distances traveled, energy-efficient equipment and freight consolidation to utilize transportation assets more efficiently. Our suggestions have helped our customers reduce their transportation related carbon emissions, which in most cases, help them to save money as well.
